July 14th, 2006 – Vancouver, BC – Quizam Media Corporation (“Quizam” or “the Company”) is pleased to announce Pacific Horticulture College has agreed to use Quizam as part of the Community Education program which provides information for gardeners as well as ongoing development for professionals in identifying plants.

The Pacific Horticulture College in partnership with the Horticulture Centre of the Pacific is an accredited private college, offering a 10 month, full-time Landscape Horticulture Certificate program. Graduates often become self-employed gardeners or typically attain employment in nurseries, public gardens, golf courses, municipal parks, and horticultural supply companies.

Currently the centre maintains about 15 acres of demonstration and teaching gardens and has stewardship of about 90 acres of mostly undeveloped land; including wetlands with about 35 varieties of birds, pockets of Garry oak habitat and other sensitive plant material native to the area.

Sandra Cranz, College Coordinator, states, “Pacific Horticulture College is committed to providing excellence in horticulture training...its goal is to develop skills to meaningful employment and to encourage sustainable environmentally responsible stewardship of gardens and green space.”

Irene Dual, Director of Business Development, states, “I’m pleased that Quizam will be part of a community education program that promotes responsible stewardship of gardens and green space! Quizam is a great tool to use for visually identifying plants and remember factual information”.
