February 2, 2007 – Vancouver, BC – Quizam Media Corporation (“Quizam” or “the Company”) is pleased to announce Consortium Buhedi De Groupe Scolaire Communautaire (CBGSCOM) has signed a deal with Quizam Media Corporation to use Quizam software in its elementary, grammar and professional schools.

Consortium Buhedi De Groupe Scolaire Communautaire (CBGSCOM) was established by Mr. Hemi Buabadi Buhedi in 1990 and bequeathed to his sons Schiko Buabadi Lobo, Founder and José Buabadi Itaka, President.

In January, 2006, the government of the Democratic Republic of Congo and CBGSCOM signed agreements of partnership with the aim of eliminating illiteracy in the Congo and other South African countries and to provide basic education for everyone.

CBGSCOM has now signed a deal with Quizam Media Corporation entitling a network of 14 elementary, 11 grammar and 6 professional schools situated in Kinshasa, the capital of the Republic Democratic Congo and in the city of Ilebo (Kasai-Occidental) to use Quizam as part of the curricula.

Students enrolled in the Democratic Republic of Congo school network are; 16,000 pupils in elementary; 12,650 pupils in secondary and 2,580 pupils to the professionals.

Quizam Media Corporation will be providing its computer based self-assessment software training in French and will customize quizzes according to the Congo’s curriculum.

Schiko Buabadi Lobo, Founder and José Buabadi Itaka, President of CBGSCOM both state, “Quizam is a good way - we strongly think that student self-assessment is an efficient tool for learning. Our system is quite different from the Canadian one; in the Congo a teacher has too much power to the extent that a student can become shy. With Quizam there is no barrier, no intimidation in the learning process”.

Irene Dual, Director of New Business states, “I’m very excited to work in partnership with CBGSCOM toward the goal of ending illiteracy in the Congo. I agree, it’s important to eliminate barriers and intimidation – we must build confidence. I’m also very pleased to announce this is our first step toward developing a multi-lingual site, positioning Quizam in the global market”.
